CHAPTER 5

SHEILA sized up the foursome in a swift glance. Brad, eager, a little flushed, as the first time she'd seen him. The girl on his arm, square shouldered, long of leg, with straight, precise features, her brown eyes remote, her thin mouth sulky and slightly reckless, attractive for all that. The woman who looked and didn't look like Brad, very poised and cheery and wholly beautiful. Finally Whit, baby-faced, guileless, staring saucer-eyed at Paty.

Then her eyes came back to Brad Talton.

"Hello," she tried to be calm and adequate. "Who was that girl on his arm? Probably Jane Penzance. . . But you're wrong, Mr. Talton. I wasn't looking for you."

Brad refused to be discouraged.

"I wasn't strictly looking for you either," he said cheerfully, "but now we're all here we might as well make the most of it. Miss Kelly, Miss Penzance. And Miss Kelly's sister. And my sister, Trudy—Mrs. Wendell. And Whit, of course. Now, who are you looking for?"

"Mickey," said Sheila. "My brother."

The gatekeeper interrupted. He knew class or thought he did.

"Excuse me, Miss, I been thinking—maybe I can locate your brother."

"Great," said Brad. Then to Sheila, "Is he little?"

"Good," said Sheila, with a warning glance at Paty. "Not very. Big enough to take care of himself."

"That simplifies it," Brad turned to his sister. "Trudy, if you still—"

WPA Drops All Who Get Jobless Aid

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 (AP).—The Works Progress Administration announced today it will purge its rolls of all persons eligible for unemployment compensation benefits.

Audrey Williams, acting WPA administrator, in a sweeping ruling, announced that all workers on WPA rolls who are eligible for jobless insurance payments must receive unemployment aid, or they must leave Federal employment.

He said, however, that all compliance of the terms of unemployment payments, workers again will be eligible for WPA employment. Williams said this would affect about 20,000 WPA workers, and undoubtedly will throw a heavier burden on local relief agencies.

In Massachusetts, eligible workers may draw from $5 to $15 a week compensation wage. In other states the weekly wage is considerably lower. The average WPA wage is $12 a month.

Williams said the WPA rolls will not be lightened as the WPA working list is large and increasing.

Fr. Coughlin To Talk on 'Politics'

DETROIT, Jan. 7.—The Rev. Father Charles E. Coughlin, who since spoke to 10,000,000 persons over the air, returns to the microphone next Sunday.

The radio priest of the Shrine of the Little Flower will under a rebuke from Archbishop Edward Mooney and the Vatican, retired abruptly from broadcasting last October, is trying a comeback over an independent hookup now that it is eventually hoped will be in some state stations over a period of 15 years.

Why? He returns. To the direct question, Father Coughlin without hesitation, gave this direct answer: "I am returning to the air for two reasons. "The first is in order to clarify my position. There exists in the minds of many Catholics a state of confusion with regard to the attitude of the church toward me, and my attitude toward the church. I wish to clear that up."

"The second reason is that I think I can contribute toward helping and building up the morale of people who are in need of it today."

"The spirit of fear, mistrust and hatred throughout the country, instead of nothing away. Continued on Page 6, Column 4

'Guilty,' Polygamy Plea by Waiter Who Wed Three

Held in $2500; Third
Wife Tells Love
For Proctor

Although she was responsible for the polygamy charge being brought against him, last July, although three already were already, two wives living and another divorced, Betty Morrison of Roxbury—Wife No. 3—still loves Allen Proctor, the handsome waiter, she declared in Roxbury court-house today.

As she waited for arraignment of the man who married her last July, although three already were already, two wives living and another divorced, Betty Morrison of Roxbury—Wife No. 3—still loves Allen Proctor, the handsome waiter, she declared in Roxbury court-house today.

"But even if he gets out of this mess," she said thoughtfully, "I don't know if he'll be able to talk himself back into my good graces, in spite of his gift of gab."

Proctor pleaded guilty to the polygamy charge and was held in $2500 bail, double surety, for a hearing and disposition January 23. Betty was the only one of the three wives present.

Proctor, pretty with blue eyes, dark hair, and a well-cut nose, was a waiter in the Park Bay hotel and restaurant, was dining room captain when they met, she told the Evening American.

NEED KNOW OF RECORDS
They went to a hotel at Devonport, N. I., early last summer, where together in the dining room, where they were married at Providence Jan. 14.

Proctor didn't know of court records which listed these two as previous wives.

No. 1—Mollie Ashworth, 21, Fall River, a red-head, whom Proctor allegedly married May 15, 1923, and now lives in Dorchester street, New Bedford.

No. 2—Lillian Covey, 21, Grand street, New Bedford, waitress and mother of Proctor's first child, as alleged. They were married July 7, 1924.

And Betty didn't know that two weeks before her marriage Proctor had been given a suspended sentence in New Bedford on a charge of bigamy.

SENT TELEGRAM
During the hearing, however, she heard the facts about Proctor, she told the Evening American but last fall she telegraphed to a Providence hotel, where she was waiting for him to come to her.

The payoff came when Betty, expecting her son, Mrs. Mary Mann, told her.

Allen Proctor, right, waiter, was held under $2500 bail, double surety, for disposition of his case on January 23. He pleaded guilty to charge of being married to three women. He is shown at Roxbury court with Detective Francis J. O'Connor, at left. He married his first wife in 1913, his second in 1924.

Morrison of Roxbury, right, waiter, was held under $2500 bail, double surety, for disposition of his case on January 23. He pleaded guilty to charge of being married to three women. He is shown at Roxbury court with Detective Francis J. O'Connor, at left. He married his first wife in 1913, his second in 1924.

"However, I never quite trusted him after I began to hear stories about him."

"He was my first love and I really was deeply in love with him when I married him."

LOVED SECOND WIFE
Proctor, however, after his arraignment, hardly recognized in the matter of No. 2.

Wife No. 3—Mrs. Allen Proctor, pictured here, brought polygamy charges against her handsome waiter-husband, but insisted at Roxbury court-house that she still loved him. A sister of the third Mrs. Proctor started a private investigation that caused the arrest. Wife No. 3 married Proctor in July, 1927.

NEWARK, N. J., Jan. 7 (AP)—A transport airplane, whose pilot understood his mark in an early morning rainstorm, landed in a forced landing in a swamp near Newark airport today, but settled into mud and water with its five passengers and crew of three little the worse for their dramatic experience.

Landed for four hours in the eight-mile-square marsh until rescuers and dawn brought them and the water-soaked and mud-caked passengers, merely water-soaked about their narrow escape.

After trading through some swamp mire to dry land they laughed about it, paying only compliments to the pretty blonde stewardess who stayed by their side during the hectic landing.

GIRL IN 'ACTS'
"All the raves go to Virginia Lally," said Jack Ryan, Pan-Atlantic, Ill., one of the five men who flew in the giant plane from Chicago. "She's easy, she kidded us all into thinking we were coming into the airport, got our coats ready and everything."

The plane, which about 3 p. m. Quickly, it landed in the rain until danger of explosion was past. From there until daylight, they waited inside the cabin waiting for help.

Pilot Ernest R. Smith, suffered a cut over his eye in the bumping out but none of the passengers, the airline said, was injured.

Passengers included Max Lander of Boston and Herbert Shapiro of Newton, Mass.

Television Is Reality Here

Boston Sees Proof;

Television today is a scientific reality and it now remains only for modern business methods to make it as common as the radio.

This declaration was made in a group of laymen who witnessed the first electronic television demonstration, held at the Massachusetts Television Institute, 100 State street, Boston, today.

Groups at the Institute, which saw an image of a man on a small screen and then saw the man himself in the next room and began to talk.

Representatives of the Institute, who have made rapid strides in the last few years and that commercial television is now possible.

What remains to be accomplished, they said, is to create a demand for television programs and to place sufficient television sets in homes.

Plight of Jews in Europe: Rabbi Says Carol Seeks Sole Rule

The Jew in Europe is faced with exile. With Premier Goga threatening to exile 1,130,000 Jews from Rumania, Jewry throughout the world is up in arms against wholesale persecution of their race.

It is now an international problem. Thousands of New England Jews want to know the answer to "What is the plight of Jews in Europe?" and the Boston Evening American has asked leading Hebrew scholars in New England to discuss the question. Herewith is presented the sixth, and last, of a series of articles.

Rabbi Jacob B. Agus, of Somerville, finds that Premier Goga is unaware of the powder keg he is liable to set off if he continues to persecute the Hebrew in his own country.

By WILLIAM MICHELFELDER

Like the brown bear in the fable who squashed his master with a blow intended to brush away a butterfly, Rabbi Jacob B. Agus, of Somerville, sees Rumania's race-purging dictaine as one trampling on Europe while "cleaning house" in his own backyard.

Rabbi Agus, an authority on the soiling controversy in Rumania, where a million Jews are to be herded across the Danube into exile, thinks that Premier Goga has no idea of what he's doing. The Rabbi has some views on the subject. One of them is very emphatic:

"Intelligent Americans realize, I believe, that Premier Goga is merely being swept along by the tide which combines anti-Semitism and militaristic dictatorship."

"The situation in Rumania is transparent. King Carol has long fraternized with the leaders of the smallest parties in order that he might offset the influence of the major parties and thus make himself the first royal dictator of our times."

To Rabbi Agus, the new premier is a blistering gentleman, unaware of the significance of the fact that he polled less than 10 per cent of the vote in a recent election. The peasants, with a solid antipathy for new administrative furniture are more too friendly toward their new ruler.

CHARGES BROADENED
Rabbi Agus broadened his charges with an exposition of the political cross-sections in Rumania.

"The peasants constitute the vast majority of Rumanian people," he continued. "They are not unlike the peasants of Germany or Russia. They are the amenable majority throughout Europe. Goga fails to indicate that he knows he adds more powder to the keg of dynamite which might rip Europe asunder."

The Rabbi speculated on the new tempo in Poland. At present the trend in Poland is toward vigorous dictatorship but a definite program has not yet evolved.

Poland is important to consider in this present upheaval in Rumania. The situation is almost the same. Currently, there is a movement to confiscate Jewish property. But 80 per cent of the Polish population is peasant and the attitude is definitely pro-Hebrew.

TREND NOTED
In the far East, too, Rabbi Agus notes the same trend. He believes that a minority "pressure group" or armed-to-the-teeth "armies" forced the Japanese government to embark on the Chinese campaign as a spite of the unwillingness of the population.

But Rabbi Agus is optimistic. Indeed, about the future of Jewry in Europe, as have been other lifetime scholars who look past to this series.

The summarized attitude of all the Rabbis who have appeared in these columns for the past weeks can be briefly stated.

PIGHT SERIOUS
All were unanimous on the point that the plight of the Jew in Europe is serious but that dictatorial ultimatum was done in a cause it rubbed the fur of civilization the wrong way.

That it was impossible to alienate millions of people.

That attacks on life and property by a minority group is an attack on the fundamental conception of human rights—the groundwork of democracy.

That persecution, like earthquakes and pestilence, is part of the story of life.

Series Tribute Paid by Rabbis

Rabbi Jacob B. Agus, of Somerville, whose discussion on the plight of Jews in Europe appeared elsewhere on this page, wrote the following tribute to the Boston Evening American:

"Both the Jewish and non-Jewish world have been wondering about the crusade against the Hebrew in Rumania, Germany and Poland. There are many who are unacquainted with the intricacies of European intrigue and tempted to conclude that European Jewry is at least in part to blame."

"I know I express the feelings of New England Jewry when I thank the Boston Evening American for its selfless interest in the plight of the Jews in many European countries."

Rabbi Herman A. Rubens, of Roxbury also lauded the series of articles on the Hebrew crisis in Rumania.

"The Boston Evening American's series on the plight of the Hebrew in Europe was both timely and interesting. It served a good cause because it was a fundamental cause and I sincerely thank the Boston Evening American for their non-partisan, intelligent series on the difficulties of the Hebrew in modern Europe."

Dye Union's 94 Is Conceded

A membership of 94 employees of the North Shore Dye House, Inc., in Local 141 of the Cleaners and Dyers Union, was conceded by both sides today in a hearing of charges of illegal labor practices against the firm before a National Labor Relations board examiner.

William C. Casper, business agent of the union, introduced 30 membership applications in evidence, but one, that of Joseph L. Garcia, was thrown out on challenge by counsel for the company.

On the grounds he was not a union member, Trial Examiner Waldo C. Holden declined to uphold another protest against the firm of J. J. Argento. Both Garcia and Argento were among the complainants who charged they were discriminated against for union activities. The Boardable restaurant, last was heard from when she dropped hints to her sister, explaining she was going to New Bedford on business.

Navy Finds U. S. Yards Ready to Build Ships

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 (AP)—Navy officials reported today that 21 new navy yards and seven or more commercial shipbuilding plants now would be ready for any new warship building program approved by Congress.

Sixty-five vessels, including two battleships, now are being built or have been contracted for, but one informed official explained "they will be mostly ready to go."

Officials also were optimistic that a trouble of which Secretary Swenson has complained—difficulty and delay in obtaining bids on materials—was a thing of the past.

A year ago manufacturers and producers declined to bid on shipbuilding contracts, chiefly because of the lack of steel.

The situation, however, has been satisfactory, officials said.

The navy budget calls for 22 new ships to replace ships past the age of maximum military usefulness.

Czech Shoe Cost Survey Delay Is Assailed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 (AP)—An appropriation committee report to Congress disclosed today the fight against inclusion of shoes in a trade agreement with Czechoslovakia had been renewed during hearings on the tariff commission appropriation.

Representative Wigwag (R.) of Massachusetts on behalf of New England's shoe industry, deplored the reason for "delay" in investigating the difference between production costs in the United States and Czechoslovakia.

Declaring imports of censored shoes from Czechoslovakia had increased about 150 per cent in the last two years, Wigwag told the tariff commission.

"You should have known the information was vital if any trade agreement is to be determined on a basis which is fair to the American working man in the shoe and shoe industry."

Why was it necessary to wait from Aug. 19 to Dec. 2 before making any attempt to ascertain the fair value of foreign imports?

Morgan replied that "costs are not known." He said the committee was not prepared to say for our investigators to be sent to Czechoslovakia to ascertain the cost of production in the United States as a prerequisite to work in the shoe and shoe industry.

The President has indicated he might propose an even larger program, to cope with world conditions, who have assumed no "knowing" cost.

Many New Warships Ordered by Italy

U. S. Demands Russia Report on Mrs. Rubens

MOSCOW, Jan. 7 (AP)—In what Soviet quarters indicated was a "virtual protest," the United States today demanded from the Kremlin full information about the reported arrest of Mrs. Ruth Rubens of the "Boston Herald" ministry.

A formal note to the Soviet government indicated that, if Mrs. Rubens is not released, the place of her imprisonment, her health, and her condition will be reported.

NOTE DELIVERED

The note was delivered by the American embassy on instructions from Washington, growing out of evidence that the woman, even though she used a fraudulent passport, is a native-born American citizen.

There was no mention of Adolf Rubens, her companion, who preceded her in disappearing last month. So far there has been no proof that he was naturalized as a Russian citizen.

Foreign office quarters confirmed receipt of the note, but the United States Embassy would give no details of the matter.

REFUSAL, PUZZLING

With Mrs. and Mrs. Rubens in prison on charges of counter-revolutionary activity, it was likely that the embassy would demand that a representative be permitted to see the women, as was provided by treaty.

Officials indicated that the embassy now was preparing against the "lack of information about Mrs. Rubens, center of a mystery which has caused an international sensation."

Refusal of the embassy to give full details of the matter was said to be a deliberate policy.

French Freighter Bombed Off Spain; 1 Dead

MARTELL, France, Jan. 7 (AP)—The chief engineer of the French freighter Guinevere was killed and the ship heavily damaged when an unidentified warplane bombed the vessel off the southwestern coast of Spain.

French naval authorities here said Guinevere was today to leave when any of the crew of 45 men and women, wounded in the general air attack, died of its kind in several weeks.

Disabled by the air bombs striking her deck, the 4300-ton freighter was forced against the coast of Guadalupe and Algeria, Spanish fishermen and sailors were reported to have aided the crew.

Unofficial reports reaching Martell said the raid was executed by an insurgent plane.

Navy Flier Falls In Sea Hunt For Bomber

Search Covers 60,000 Miles of Ocean; No Trace of 7 Men

SAN PEDRO, Cal., Jan. 7.—Sixty thousand square miles of the Pacific were searched today by the Air Force of the United States for a missing plane missing since Wednesday evening with seven men aboard.

Two aircraft, the Saratoga and Lexington, were ordered to search for the missing plane. The search covers 60,000 miles of ocean. No trace of the plane or its crew has been found.

Young Hawkins was born at Jefferson City, Mo., and attended Princeton University. The Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Washington University, St. Louis.

His fellow airman, Capt. John M. Mack, brought the plane in and a search of the waters was made, but without success.

Mark said the plane hit an "air-sea" and "literally" exploded. Hawkins told of his last moments as the search neared its 48th hour.

However, out of the hope came from Capt. A. D. Barnard, chief staff for First Air Force, J. King at San Diego, who said the plane was a "stupid" type, capable of ocean landings and was in fact a "stupid" type.

It was deemed possible the craft is still awaiting rescue. The search for the plane was continued.

News of Port of Boston:

Eerie Ghost Thief Stalks Ships, Crew

Sailors in State of Jitters Until—
Well, Read on for Answer

By ROBERT L. GREEN

An American freighter that plays between this and African ports recently had a delicate situation aboard that would have taxed the detective powers of any seagoing Phil Vance.

One day out of a West African coast port several of the seamen and officers reported missing. The porters, belonging to a seaman, discovered his favorite English pipe gone. Another found that his cigarette case had disappeared. Other men were missing. Things proceeded to the point where a growing suspicion could properly be expected that the seafarer had been abducted on all previous voyages.

FIGHT STARTS
One morning after the thief had been particularly busy a fight started. A sailor thought he recognized his razor in the hands of a shipmate.
The fighting seamen were arrested and it was ascertained that the razor rightfully belonged to the sailor. Abductions were grudgingly made, but a had situation was made worse. Every the seamen respecting the matter. A bunch of seers was added to the mystery when one of the radio officers who had left his cabin for a chat with the mate returned almost immediately for his cigarettes. He heard a rustling inside the cabin, which was a hand momentary on the door handle.
With one movement he threw open the door. All that met his believing gaze was a canvased cabin.
In the meantime, the captain and chief officer had been conducting an investigation. The door was closed. The captain had the crewed on deck.
ARTICLES FOUND
He asked the cook to step forward. Next he asked the cook to uncover a large cardboard box that had been brought out on deck and to dump out its contents. On the deck fell the missing articles. The lady Raffles was "Sheba," the pet monkey of the entire crew. "Sheba" was brought out to stand judgment, and the crew had abandoned explanation to make.
"Sheba" had a small ring of keys around her neck, which included a key that would open a top box. The cook had taught the monkey to open the ring box by selecting the right key from among the keys on the ring which opened, incidentally, locks on the ship.

Lay Light Failure To Flood Damage
HAVERHILL, Jan. 7.—Damage sustained in the March floods of 1936 was blamed today for an electric lighting breakdown which threw the city into darkness for four hours.
Much of the city was without lighting, including streets and theaters, although power and light was maintained in hospitals.

False Teeth Wearers Are Worst Breath Offenders!
"Need More Than a Mouth Wash" say Authorities... Recommend Polident

Plates and bridges ask up odors and imparture like a sponge! A thin dark scum collects on them. This scum holds germs and decay bacteria. It is so tough that ordinary brushing seldom removes it. And it gets into every tiny crevice where brushing can't even reach. Almost always it results in "denture breath"—probably the most offensive of all breath odors.
Yet there's a perfect way to clean and purify false teeth without brushing, acid or danger. It is Polident, the powder that dissolves away all scum, stains, tartar and odor. Makes breath fresher—and plates or bridges look better and feel better. Try it. You'll soon call Polident a blessing for comfort, convenience and hygiene. Long-lasting pain costs only 25¢ at any drug store. Approved by Good Housekeeping Bureau and doctors everywhere.

Cleans, Purifies Like Magic
Put Polident in hot water of glass or plastic. Dip denture in it. Wash and brush. Rinse. Done! No acid. No danger. No abrasion. No staining. No odor. No taste. No trouble. No expense. Polident is the only denture cleanser that dissolves away all scum, stains, tartar and odor. Makes breath fresher—and plates or bridges look better and feel better. Try it. You'll soon call Polident a blessing for comfort, convenience and hygiene. Long-lasting pain costs only 25¢ at any drug store. Approved by Good Housekeeping Bureau and doctors everywhere.

British Trade Treaty Hit by Walsh, Lodge

Boy State Senators See Peril to N. E. Textile Plants

This is the fourth article in a series on some developments of vital importance to New England employers and employees and the people generally in the Northeastern States.

By FREDERICK A. SMITH
News comes from Washington today that Secretary Hull of the State Department is about ready to announce details of the proposed reciprocal trade treaty with Great Britain.

It is expected that American industries will know in a few days just what commodities are to be admitted into the United States at a lower tariff.

DANGER IN FACTS
New England industries already protesting, charge that above coming here from Great Britain will do serious damage to New England factories, and deeply concerned that the treaty will bring about an influx of textile goods.

Textile manufacturers' anxiety is expressed in the Boston Evening American, emphatically protesting against what they call a new threat to industry and labor here.

"There is inherent danger in all these reciprocal trade agreements," said Senator Henry Cabot Lodge.

Senator Lodge's attitude already had been made clear in the pending Caribbeianian treaty when he proposed that that treaty be put off to treat to those that will vote for it.

All reciprocal trade treaties involve that possibility.

If the State Department is alert to protect our local industries these dangers may be avoided. But there is the possibility that the State Department may be lulled through lack of proper information or simply use of argument and make a wrong decision.

Congressman Joseph W. Martin, of Massachusetts, is particularly interested in the proposed reciprocal agreement with Great Britain. It might be infinitely worse for us than the proposed Caribbeianian treaty. It might strike at our textile industry, hitting many employers and employees.

Hope that the proposed treaty would not result in an injury to American industries was expressed by William L. Carter, president of the National Gunsmith and Cutlery Company.

Police today sought a bandit who, for the second time in two weeks, invaded an apartment on Huntington avenue.

Victims this time were Mrs. Corinne Champagne and her daughter, Corinne, 23. Mrs. Champagne's husband, Robert, was asleep in an adjoining room and did not awaken until after the intruder had gone.

The bandit entered the women's bedroom by way of a fire escape. He held something which he believed to be a gun. They fled in terror.

He seemed to know just where they were. Mrs. Champagne said afterward: "Possibly he had been watching through the window, perhaps for several nights."

The purses contained a total of $25 cash and one of them had in it a check for $127. Mrs. Champagne had $50 concealed somewhere in the house which the bandit did not know about. Likewise she was wearing a watch.

Jim Roosevelt Wants Pool to Aid Industry

Suggests Raising of 15 Millions to Buy Machinery

James Roosevelt, eldest son and secretary to the President, at his new home in Framingham today proposed that Massachusetts industry set up a $15,000,000 revolving fund to modernize machinery in competition with the South and other industrial sections.

Young Roosevelt declared that modern machinery was the greatest obstacle to progress in the Bay State.

Under his plan, business in this State would use pooled private capital as an insurance fund against mechanical deterioration in industrial plants.

Asserting that Massachusetts has an intelligent labor population, sound government, and "the makings of a good industrial state," he said:

"However, we have outmoded machinery which, plus the marked wage differential between this section and the South, holds things up."

Auto License Fair Ad Erased

So Determined Driver Faces Court

ARMONK, N. Y., Jan. 7 (AP)—New York's 1933 automobile license plates bear the legend, "New York State's Fair Ad Erased."

Marvin McBurnie received his new plate and he didn't like the advertisement. He painted it out with heavy black paint, then went motoring through the town of New Castle today. A constable stopped him. McBurnie told him:

"The state isn't paying me for carrying advertising and I won't carry it."

There was an argument, which eventually got into a justice of peace court, where a hearing was set for Tuesday.

Probe Into Alien Recruits Asked

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 (AP)—Investigation into recruiting of soldiers in the United States by foreign nations now at war, was demanded today by Senator Rayburn (D., N. C.).

He called upon state and justice departments to report to the Senate any information they have on such recruiting.

"The state isn't paying me for carrying advertising and I won't carry it."

There was an argument, which eventually got into a justice of peace court, where a hearing was set for Tuesday.

Bishop to Quiz Torch Death Suspect

Tewksbury Men Set To Visit District Attorney Today

District Attorney Warren L. Bishop said today that he would question a Tewksbury man said to be the chief suspect in the torch murder of Mrs. Jennie Andelman, 45-year-old, wealth Cambridge murder.

The suspect and his attorney were scheduled to appear at Bishop's office in the Middlesex County courthouse this afternoon.

Police last night instituted a search for the man when he could not be found at his home. He returned to Tewksbury today, however, explaining he had spent the night with Boston friends.

District Attorney Bishop said that a three-month investigation revealed that the woman had been murdered and not accidentally burned to death in a Tewksbury summer camp as originally believed.

The suspicion of Mrs. Rebecca Pitch, a daughter of the dead woman, that foul play caused her mother's death resulted in the discovery that she had been murdered.

Mrs. Andelman's body, according to police, was partly dismembered and dragged into the camp, one of several she owned and burned so as to make the killing.

Choir Girl Sorry She Killed Dad

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Jan. 7.—Choir girl, who shot her father to death as she prepared for choir rehearsal, today broke down the 18-year-old Dorothy Schaefer wept in a cell today.

"I only meant to scare him," she said.

Acting Police Inspector John J. Underwood said the attractive and willow-voiced choir girl confessed she pushed a .38 Smith & Wesson into her father's breast after he had annoyed the neighbors and threatened her mother and herself.

"I wanted to give me the beating of my life," she said.

"He said, 'I'll hang your head in and do the same to your mother if you interfere.' Underwood quoted the girl as saying.

He admitted to me and nothing belonging to the choir of All Souls Lutheran church. I had no intention of harming him.

"I grabbed the knife, I scared him so he would stop threatening my mother and me."

CHAPTER 36

Naturally I made the closest inquiries as to the reasons for this petition and I convinced myself, and I also convinced the authorities to whom I was responsible, that the reports I sent them were true and well founded.

"Tidy truths have sometimes to be faced and here is one which with the deepest regret I have to place before you. That fact is that the German government of those provinces—a man of very high position connected, I fear, with some of you, had conducted the duties of his high office in a cruel and almost barbaric fashion.

"He had reintroduced flagging, for instance, as is reported in the small pamphlet which I submitted to your presiding officer. This report also specifies that native women were frequently taken from their rightful owners and given to others. Men were subjected to barbaric forms of capital punishment on insufficient grounds. Large fines were continually imposed upon the chiefs in different territories and severe punishments meted out for even a day's delay in payment.

"I have proved beyond the shadow of a doubt the existence of all these abuses which you will find described at length in my pamphlet. My strong advice to the men who sent me the report on investigation is that Colony Number 2 should not be recognized as a guarantee that the same government is not repeated. It was the only hatch I discovered."

Matthews went up. "I came to the conclusion on the whole that German rule would be quite as beneficial as was demonstrated as was British rule. The German means will give us no trouble whatever except in the case of Colony Number 3. That is all I have to tell you, gentlemen."

"I will only add," Count Helm said, leaning forward, "that the position is slightly complicated by the fact that the late German governor of Colony Number 2 was a man of high position."

Slenderizing House Dress

MARIAN MARTIN

FATTER'S SIN

Take a few pounds and make yourself this very pretty house dress. It will give you a slenderizing effect and will keep you comfortable for many months to come.

The new tendency toward longer waists is shown in this dress. It is made in a simple, straight line, with a high collar and a long, flowing skirt. The dress is made of a light-colored fabric, possibly silk or satin, and is decorated with a simple, elegant pattern. The overall effect is one of grace and femininity.

The dress is shown in a full-length view, highlighting its long, flowing skirt and high collar. The model is standing in a simple, elegant pose, emphasizing the dress's design.

Two men were reported, a car has driven through the garden. Two men are either killed or injured. I have not yet heard of the guard."

"My friend," Count Helm said, "they are not of our party, for we are all here."

Black Frosted With White

START the new year all exactly right in something crisp and fresh... preferably black and white, because it will be perfect for the next two months in town... and be sure it is the new silhouette, for never was there one which flattered so completely, whatever the figure! Miss Dorothy Waters models one of the nicest of its kind—crisp as crocus, sheer alpine-weave crepe that clings lightly and beautifully, and a touch of frost in white lingerie here and there. You'll recognize its newness in short sleeves that leaves the arms free and the wrists much in evidence, bodice fullness and diaphragm-bolting that emphasize the bosom, hips moulded but not confined, and a hem-line that's slightly, smoothly flared like the sun, or tipped out in yard of pleats. Shiny straw-fabric and belting ribbon make the perfect mid-season hat. WATCH YOUR WAISTLINE

CHAPTER 35

As I turned the key in the lock of the door leading to the balcony—from the outside—and then dropped it in the pocket of my motor coat, I do not think I have ever experienced so lively a sense of some unseen menace near by.

"Of course," I realized that Harry Underwood's cryptic statement about dealing with men who "could slip through the eye of a needle," and Lillian's subsequent frightened reaction to that comment, with her preparations to meet some unknown but probable danger, were mainly responsible for my state of mind.

Indeed, we dropped suddenly, to our knees beside the balcony rail, a startled cry burst out upon it, dropped to the ground, and then scuttled up the sturdy limbs of a wicker vine, pride of the farmhouse, which covers all that side of the house, almost to the roof.

I heard a quick, vibrant breath from Lillian, which, however, would have been inaudible to anyone upon the ground below, and knew that she had feared the same fate as the cat would adventure my presence to any possible danger.

But there was no sound from below, and for the next few seconds I was alone, and I saw through the blackness, although all three had been turned out a minute before, and Harry Underwood's voice said in low tones:

"Have you heard anything?"

Steak and Kidney Pie Is Rare treat

FROM MARTHA LEE'S FRIDAY MORNING BROADCAST OVER STATION WMXA

A "thank you" to the lady who inadvertently called our attention to a heaping tray of veal kidneys in the market this week.

We grant that the kidneys in their wet wrappings may not have had particular appeal (the lady asked the butcher what they were), but we stand with hatred breath least someone acquire them before our "turn" arrives.

But, recalling the taste of that succulent steak and kidney pie, we realize that we must have overlooked the tray. Somehow we've forgotten just how good a steaming breakfast and kidney pie can be.

Then, too, it was such an easy meal to prepare. The meat was placed in the casserole and put in the automatic refrigerator to await our homecoming on the following evening. Then it took but a few minutes to cook and placed in the oven.

Then we quickly cut up a head of that lovely new cabbage on the market and prepared it for quick cooking. Our came the big wooden salad bowl and a mixture of greens produced a salad that was a perfect complement to the pie when dressed with a zesty French dressing.

"WE KNOW TOBACCO BECAUSE WE GROW IT"

What quality of tobacco goes into Camel cigarettes?

This question, of interest to every smoker, is answered by the men who know tobacco from the ground up

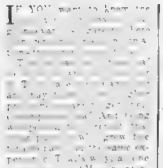

"THE CAMEL PEOPLE" are the best of the best. They know the quality of tobacco that goes into Camel cigarettes.

"CAMELS GAVE TOP PRICES" for the best tobacco in the world. That's why Camel cigarettes are so good.

"WHEN THE BEST LOTS OF" tobacco are available, Camel cigarettes are the first choice of smokers everywhere.

"I SOLD THE PICK OF MY" tobacco crop to Camel. That's why Camel cigarettes are so good.

"I'VE BEEN IN THE TOBACCO" business for many years. That's why Camel cigarettes are so good.

"I'VE BEEN IN THE TOBACCO" business for many years. That's why Camel cigarettes are so good.

MEET ALEY SKIDMORE, of Winchester, Kentucky. "I'm a tobacco planter," he says as he displays some of his choice tobacco leaves.

"I HAD A FINE TOBACCO" crop last year," says George M. Crumbaugh. "Camel bought all the choice tobacco from me."

"AN EXTRA GOOD CROP," says Ray Spauld, who has grown a fine tobacco crop for many years. "Camel bought all the choice tobacco from me."

"MY FOUR BROTHERS AND I" have been planting tobacco for many years. "Camel bought all the choice tobacco from me."

WALTER DUFFIN'S TOBACCO brought the highest price in his market. "The Camel people took the best of it."

TOPPERS, that's what Camels are. "Camel buyers sure pay more to get the best tobacco."

"THE CROWN OVER" the other brands. "Camel cigarettes are the best of the best."

"I'VE BEEN IN THE TOBACCO" business for many years. That's why Camel cigarettes are so good.

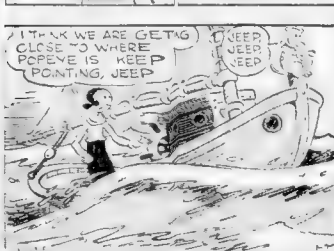

PEOPLE DO APPRECIATE THE COSTLIER TOBACCO IN CAMELS. THEY ARE THE LARGEST-SELLING CIGARETTE IN AMERICA.

Camel spends millions more for COSTLIER TOBACCO. They are a matchless blend of finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCO—Turkish and Domestic.

Lenglet Is Bigger Than Carpenter French Giant Is Set for McCoy

By JACK CONWAY

ANDRE LENGLET, French heavyweight who battles Al McCoy in a ten-round bout at the Garden on Monday night, says he will surpass the greatest ring feats of Georges Carpentier.

Mr. Boston

Carpentier was France's most illustrious fighting son. He established himself as an international ring figure when a boy in his teens. When the World War came, Carpentier hung up his boxing gloves, and served with the colors. Following the war, Carpentier returned to the ring, and fought Jack Dempsey for the world's championship at a show by Tex Rickard in Boyle's Thirty Acres in Jersey City.

Carpentier almost succeeded in knocking Dempsey out with a looping right-hand punch to the jaw in the second round. It was one of the most thrilling moments in the history of the boxing game.

Carpentier, barely weighing 168 pounds, was not given much of a chance of winning from the powerful and hard hitting Dempsey who scaled 180 pounds.

The huge crowd of 90,000 persons who paid $1,600,000 to see the international classic watched Dempsey force Carpentier back for most of the first round.

In the second round, while Dempsey was walking in with his head high, Carpentier cut loose with a looping right-hand punch which he started down around his waist. As the punch skyrocketed through space, Carpentier jumped in the air so as to get every ounce of power in his body behind the smash.

The blow landed flush on Dempsey's jaw, and the champion's knees buckled. Dempsey fell into a clinch, and held as much as he could until the bell sounded for the end of the round.

RAYON STOCK MARKET

24 BOSTON, FRIDAY, JANUARY 7, 1938

Today's Sales 1,100,000

Outlook Favorable For New Year Organon

Despite the sharp decline in rayon yarn deliveries to domestic mills, accompanied by a slight curtailment of production during the closing months of 1937, both of which resulted in a serious surplus of stocks to what the industry characterizes as a "more workable level," the outlook for the industry is favorable for the new year, according to the current issue of the "Rayon Organon," published by the Textile Economics Bureau, Inc.

One of the outstanding causes for the reaction of late 1937 in the industry, it is stated, was the speculative accumulation of stocks during the year ending August 1937. And, generally speaking, this inventory excess was largely the result of speculators rather than by producers of fabrications.

Disposal of this inventory has been progressing rapidly over the past 100 days in the industry, and this in itself is a hopeful sign for improved business from present levels during 1938.

Although certain yarn deliveries were reduced in price during December, 1937, and a few quotations for further price reductions for 60 days from date of invoice are being quoted, the industry as a whole is not so pessimistic as it was in the latter part of 1937, and it is generally expected that the industry will be able to meet the demand for the new year.

Costs of operation appear to be the chief factor in the situation. In this respect, the paper states that the cost of rayon production, especially the cost of raw material, has been relatively stable. The official figures of the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics show that average hourly wage rates in the rayon industry increased by 84 per cent from March, 1933, to August, 1937.

Similarly, rayon prices were increased by 35 per cent in late 1937. In the domestic rayon market, however, prices have increased only from a level of 10 cents per pound in 1937 to the current 16-cent figure, or 15 per cent.

Domestic deliveries of rayon to American producers are estimated to be as measured by the "Organon" index at 24, representing a decline from the already low November index of 22. Stocks of yarn held by producers at the end of the year amounted to 23 months supply, based on the previous 12 months. This compares with 18 months supply at the end of 1937. The industry operated at about 75 per cent of its capacity during 1937.

Based on data of the National Rayon Weaver's Association, the average rate of rayon yarn production during December 1937 was estimated at 38 per cent of the August, 1937 level. With December shipments at 38 per cent of the August level, it is clear that the rayon industry is continuing to decrease during the month. Thus when rayon yarn demand does pick up, there will be an immediate and direct demand felt by the yarn producers.

1937 Insurance Payoffs

HARTFORD, Jan. 7 (AP)—American life casualty and fire insurance companies paid out over $225,000,000 in 1937, according to a survey of the industry by the Travelers Insurance Co., announced today.

He said five dollars were paid out for insurance on human beings for every dollar on property, in contrast with a two-to-one ratio before the depression. The increase was explained, was partly attributable to growth of life and accident insurance, fluctuations in property values and reduction in fire losses. More than 35 per cent of the total casualty insurance benefits, the figures showed, came from life accidents, which were estimated to have caused more than 40,000 deaths and more than a million serious injuries.

Briton, Belgian Minus Signs Book to Expose Map New U.S. Gold Scheme

By WILLIAM HILLMAN

LONDON, Jan. 7.—A new scheme in which American gold would be used for credits to Germany and Italy will be discussed here today by British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and former Belgian Premier Paul Van Zeeland.

The two statesmen will also consider a proposal for a drastic reduction in the European war debts due the United States. It was reported that the plan, proposed by Chamberlain as a modification of Van Zeeland's previous scheme for world economic arrangements, calls for development of financial arrangements among the United States, Britain, France, Germany and Italy.

The plan, which was drawn up by Sir Frederick Wood, a London banker, and the British government, is being discussed by the British government. It has been accepted by France, Italy, Germany and Italy.

The plan would constitute a gold reserve for Germany and Italy, and in addition, would be the basis of credits to these two countries.

German and Italian credits would be used for each country, and the plan would be discussed by the British government.

The plan would be discussed by the British government, and the plan would be discussed by the British government.
